19.6. Further, these infringing domains/ websites are carrying and disseminating content, consisting of plaintiffs' copyrighted works, without any license or authorization. More than twenty of plaintiffs' works are being unauthorisedly made available by defendant nos.1-45. Further, legal notices were sent to these infringing domains/ websites operated by defendants to take down infringing content. However, none of them have responded to the said legal notices.

19.7. Further, defendant nos.46 to 54 are various Internet Service Providers ['ISPs'] available domestically in India who provide access to internet in India. They control access to internet and are in a position to ensure that access to these infringing websites is not available.

19.8. Defendant no.55 is DoT, while defendant no.56 is MeitY, which form part of the Government of India and are the overall Regulators of the internet environment in the country. They have been called upon for the purpose of ensuring that the ISPs are in compliance with any directions which may be passed by this Court.

19.9. Defendant no.57 has been arrayed as "Ashok Kumar" which is a generic name to include all those who, in the future, may be discovered to be using the plaintiffs' content.

20. The present is a classic case exhibiting the evolution of "hydra-headed” DNRs/ websites for streaming, reproducing, distributing, making available to the public and/ or communicating to the public any copyrighted content without appropriate licensing, where ownership of copyright is undisputed, the broad parameters to deal such issues were set out by this Court, in UTV Software Communication Ltd. And Ors. vs. 1337X.to and Ors., 2019:DHC:2047 which were “... ..required to be considered for determining, whether the website complained of is a FIOL/ Rogue Website... ..” as under:-

- i. “whether the primary purpose of the website is to commit or facilitate copyright infringement;*
- ii. the flagrancy of the infringement, or the flagrancy of the facilitation of the infringement;*
- iii. Whether the detail of the registrant is masked and no personal or traceable detail is available either of the Registrant or of the user.*
- iv. Whether there is silence or inaction by such website after receipt of take down notices pertaining to copyright infringement.*
- v. Whether the online location makes available or contains directories, indexes or categories of the means to infringe, or facilitate an infringement of, copyright;*
- vi. Whether the owner or operator of the online location demonstrates a disregard for copyright generally;*
- vii. Whether access to the online location has been disabled by orders from any court of another country or territory on the ground of or related to copyright infringement;*
- viii. whether the website contains guides or instructions to circumvent measures, or any order of any court, that disables access to the website on the ground of or related to copyright infringement;*
- ix. the volume of traffic at or frequency of access to the website; and*
- x. Any other relevant matter.”*

21. Technology, certainly has its (ill)effects, which can be (mis)utilized if there is no proper channelisation. It may be a ‘boon’ for one, but if it is without any right, it can (soon) prove to be a ‘bane’ as well. The use of the contents of the plaintiffs by the defendants on multiple websites in the present case, without any of the said defendants having any right, title and/

or interest, much less having obtained any authority, permission, sanction, clearance to do so from any of the plaintiffs, are certainly a 'bane' which calls for some remedial order(s).

22. The mushrooming of the defendants like the present types and that too by blatant and utter slavish activities with ulterior purpose(s), cannot be allowed to continue and calls upon for grant of an order of ex parte ad interim injunction against them by this Court, both not only qua the present but also qua the future, more so, since the plaintiffs do not know what beholds for them in future causing them to be helpless despite having an order of a Court of Law in their favour. The present is a situation where the defendants herein are like a sapling with very few branches and will soon grow into a big tree with many branches and deep roots. The defendants, as also anyone like them, need to be stopped as earliest as possible and they are required to abide by any such order passed by a Court of Law, both in the present as also in the future, which being binding upon them, has to be followed and adhered by them in letter and spirit.

23. As per the case set up by the plaintiff, the defendants are in flagrant infringement/ facilitation of infringement as is evident from the vast volume of content available on its websites, the systematic, organised and intentional nature of the infringement, and the regularity and consistency with which content is updated/uploaded on the websites. The defendants are also attempting to mask their websites' registration/ contact details which make it virtually impossible to locate the operators of most of the defendants' websites and extremely difficult to contact the operators of these websites to demand seizure of this infringing conduct.

24. Further, the defendants' silence/ inaction to notices demonstrates the hydra-headed nature of these rogue websites, which even if blocked, multiply and resurface as alphanumeric or mirror websites. Moreover, the defendants' websites provide directories, indexes and categories for hyperlinks to copyrighted content located on a host/ server, where the end user can stream/ download the content. Thereby, defendants' websites provide a means of locating sources for content to be directly downloaded from a cloud storage site, hence, facilitating infringement.

25. Lastly, the defendants' general disregard for copyright is evident from the fact that the defendants websites tout that they provide content from third party websites which they are supposed to know, are not authorized to distribute copyright materials of the plaintiffs or other rights holders, also from the fact that latest content of the plaintiffs is regularly and consistently made available on majority of the defendants websites.

26. The plaintiff today is asking for a dynamic injunction, which recently has also been considered in Interim Application (Lodging) No.10257 of 2023 titled "Applause Entertainment Private Limited vs. Meta Platforms Inc. and others" wherein the Bombay High Court, while dealing with clips of the audio-visual content of the webseries, copyright whereof were held by the plaintiff therein, has granted an ex parte ad interim injunction of the same nature.

27. Similarly, this Court in Universal City Studios LLC. and Ors. vs. Dotmovies.baby and Ors. [2023:DHC:5842] has also recently, while considering similar issues, after noting the necessity and change, granted an ex parte ad interim injunction and held as under:-

“20. ... .. To keep pace with the dynamic nature of the infringement

that is undertaken by hydra-headed websites, this Court has deemed it appropriate to issue this 'Dynamic+ injunction' to protect copyrighted works as soon as they are created, to ensure that no irreparable loss is caused to the authors and owners of copyrighted works, as there is an imminent possibility of works being uploaded on rogue websites or their newer versions immediately upon the films/shows/series etc. The Plaintiffs are permitted to implead any mirror/redirect/alphanumeric variations of the websites identified in the suit as Defendants Nos. 1 to 16 including those websites which are associated with the Defendants Nos. 1 to 16, either based on the name, branding, identity or even source of content, by filing an application for impleadment under Order I Rule 10 CPC in the event such websites merely provide new means of accessing the same primary infringing websites that have been enjoined. ... ..”

28. For the afore-going reasons, especially as set out in paragraph nos.23 to 25 hereinabove as also the legal position qua grant of dynamic injunction in suits of the present nature, the plaintiffs have been able to make out a prima facie case with the balance of convenience for grant of an ad interim ex-parte injunction as also for dynamic injunction in their favour and against the defendants. In case the defendants are not restrained by way of an ad interim ex-parte injunction, there is a likelihood of the plaintiffs suffering irreparable harm, loss, injury and prejudice which cannot be compensated for in terms of money.

29. Accordingly, keeping in mind the existing position of law as also since this Court has taken note of the changing times coupled with the changing technology to keep pace, till the next date of hearing:

29.1. Defendant nos.1 to 45 including their owners, partners, proprietors, officers, servants, affiliates, employees, and all others in capacity of principal or agent acting for and on its behalf, or anyone claiming through, by or under it, are restrained from communicating to the public in any manner i.e. by hosting, storing, reproducing, streaming, broadcasting, re-broadcasting, causing to be seen or heard by public on payment of charge and/or making available for viewing plaintiffs' content through their websites including those listed in Annexure A, attached to this order.

29.2. Defendant nos.46 to 54 (ISPs) are directed to block access to the infringing websites tabulated in Annexure A within 48 hours of receipt of this order.

29.3. Defendant nos.55 and 56 (DoT and MeitY) shall take steps to ensure that ISPs comply with the directions issued above, through appropriate communications and notices sent to the said ISPs, including other ISPs which are registered with them.

29.4. Lastly, 'Dynamic+ injunction' is granted to the plaintiffs to protect their copyrighted works as soon as they are infringed/created, in order to ensure no irreparable loss is caused to the owners of copyrighted works. Consequently, the plaintiffs are permitted to implead any mirror/redirect/alphanumeric variations of the websites, as given in Annexure A, including those websites which are associated with them, either based on the name, branding, identity or even source of content, by making an appropriate application for impleadment.

30. Upon filing of process fee, issue notice to the defendants through all permissible modes including through email returnable before the Joint Registrar on 28.11.2024.

31. Reply be filed within eight weeks with advance copy to counsel for plaintiffs. Rejoinder thereto, if any, be filed on or before the next date of hearing.

32. The provisions of Order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC be complied within one week.
33. List before the Court on 13.01.2025.
