Case No. 3:26-cv-02333-VC

JOINT CASE MANAGEMENT STATEMENT

Judge: Hon. Vince Chhabria

Pursuant to N.D. Cal. Civil Local Rule 16-9(a), Plaintiffs Richard Kadrey, Sarah Silverman, Christopher Golden, Jacqueline Woodson, Andrew Sean Greer, Rachel Louise Snyder, David Henry Hwang, Ta-Nehisi Coates, Laura Lippman, Matthew Klam, Junot Díaz, Lysa TerKeurst and Christopher Farnsworth, Eleven Eleven O' Clock Corporation, BCP Literary, Inc., and Daring Greatly Corporation (collectively, "Kadrey"), Entrepreneur Media, LLC ("Entrepreneur"), Chicken Soup for the Soul, LLC ("Chicken Soup"), Cambronne, Inc., Matthew Sacks, Jane Adams, Philip Shishkin, and Lisa Barretta (collectively, "Cambronne"), Cognella, Inc. ("Cognella," together with "Chicken Soup" and "Cambronne," the "Three C's") and Defendant Meta Platforms, Inc. ("Meta") (together, the "Parties"), by and through their respective undersigned counsel, hereby submit this Joint Case Management Statement in advance of the Case Management Conference scheduled for October 29, 2026.

Pursuant to the Court's inquiry at the September 25, 2026 Case Management Conference, as well as the Court's October 14, 2026 Order, the Parties write to propose a sequencing of the cases for trial.

First, as set forth in the Court's October 14 Order, Meta and Entrepreneur will prepare for trial on May 3, 2027.

Second, in the event of a settlement of the Entrepreneur case before the trial, the Parties propose that the sequencing of cases for trial follows the order in which the cases were filed. In

1 other words, if the Entrepreneur case settles in advance of May 3, 2027, the Cambronne case—
2 which was the first-filed case among the so-called “Three C” matters—would proceed to trial on 3 May 3. If the Cambronne case settles in advance of May 3, 2027, Chicken Soup would proceed to 4 trial on May 3; and if Chicken Soup settles beforehand, Cognella would proceed to trial on that 5 date.

6 Third, Meta’s lead trial counsel wishes to express her profuse thanks to the Court for its 7 consideration of her conflicting trial schedule. The new trial date of May 3, 2027, eliminates that 8 conflict. One small issue remains: The pretrial conference now scheduled for April 20, 2027, 9 conflicts with a different jury trial for Meta’s lead trial counsel—specifically Conduent State 10 Healthcare, LLC v. AIG Specialty Insurance Company, No. N18C-12-074 (Del. Super. Ct.), which 11 is scheduled for presentation of evidence through April 20, 2027. At this point, Meta suggests that 12 it advise the Court in early 2027 whether this conflict still exists and request a solution then. In the 13 alternative, if the Court prefers to address this issue now, Meta respectfully suggests moving the 14 date of the pretrial conference to April 26 or 27, 2027, with all parties adhering to the pretrial
15 submission deadlines based on the original April 20, 2027, date so that the Court has sufficient time
16 to consider any pretrial filings before the pretrial conference. Meta’s lead trial counsel again 17 apologizes for inconveniencing the Court.

18 Should the Court have any questions about the sequencing or timing of trial or the pretrial
19 conference, the Parties will be prepared to address them at the upcoming Case Management 20 Conference.

21 Plaintiffs’ Position:

22 Plaintiffs respectfully raise the following matters for the Court: (1) the forthcoming 23 amended complaints of Entrepreneur and the Three C’s conforming the pleadings to the works at 24 issue; (2) the status of discovery before Judge Hixson, including outstanding privilege disputes; 25 (3) Plaintiffs’ requests that the Court order Meta to produce additional documents and

1 communications, including its torrenting expert's prior reports and testimony, the "ML Books"
2 folder and other hyperlinked documents, and all command history files; and (4) a former Meta 3 employee's recent testimony about Meta's acquisition of the Books3 dataset.

4 Amendment to Conform Entrepreneur's Complaint. Entrepreneur will file its amended 5 complaint by November 6, 2026, the deadline previously discussed with the Court. (Aug. 14, 2026 6 Tr. at 14:4–7, 14:13–14, 14:21.) The amended complaint is expected to identify more than 400 7 additional books and more than 140 additional magazine issues that Meta torrented, used for 8 training, or crawled. These works were identified in Meta's interrogatory responses and related 9 search results, which Meta served and provided between August 4 and September 30, 2026, as well 10 as in the October 2, 2026, opening report of Plaintiffs' torrenting expert, Dr. David Choffnes.
11 (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 155 at 1–2; Dkt. No. 170 at 1–3 & n.2.)

12 Entrepreneur respectfully requests that the Court confirm that Entrepreneur may file its 13 amended complaint on or before November 6, 2026, without a separate motion for leave to amend.
14 Entrepreneur does not anticipate that the amendment will require additional discovery. It has 15 produced all author and writer agreements in its possession and does not anticipate further 16 productions concerning these works, other than possibly certificates of registration.

17 Contrary to Meta's assertions, most of the works Entrepreneur will add are not new to Meta, 18 but rather appear in schedules Entrepreneur served in August, in Meta's own discovery responses, 19 and/or in Dr. Choffnes's opening report. On August 12, 2026, Entrepreneur served schedules of 20 over 300 books it intends to assert and of more than 200 additional books, most of which Meta had 21 not yet searched for in its training data. (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 120 at 6.) Meta's own 22 interrogatory responses identify over 300 Entrepreneur books; its magazine text-matching results, 23 which it did not provide until September 30, 2026, identify additional Entrepreneur magazine issues
24 in the data crawled by Meta; and Dr. Choffnes's opening report identifies more than 400
25 Entrepreneur books in the shadow-library collections Meta torrented. (Choffnes Rpt. ¶ 10 & n.3.)

1 Because only Meta knows which works it acquired and used to train its models, Entrepreneur's 2 final list necessarily depends on Meta's disclosures.

3 Amendments to Conform the Three C's Complaints. The Three C's respectfully request 4 that the Court confirm the timing and procedure for the Three C's to amend their complaints to 5 conform to the proof.

6 Entrepreneur's Written Discovery. Meta has committed to serving verified supplemental 7 responses to Entrepreneur's outstanding interrogatories, and Entrepreneur looks forward to 8 receiving Meta's complete responses. On October 19, 2026, Judge Hixson granted Entrepreneur's 9 motion to compel as to Interrogatory No. 22 and in part as to Interrogatory No. 23, and directed 10 Entrepreneur and Meta to file a status report on Interrogatory Nos. 12 and 19 by October 26, 2026.
11 (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 176 at 6–8.) In the joint status report, Entrepreneur asked Judge Hixson 12 to order Meta to serve verified supplemental responses by the dates Meta has agreed to—i.e., 13 October 30, 2026, for Interrogatory No. 19 and November 6, 2026, for Interrogatory Nos. 12, 22, 14 and 23—and to grant Entrepreneur leave to raise any issues after those responses are served.
15 (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 178.) As Meta points out below, Judge Hixson issued an order earlier 16 today, directing Entrepreneur and Meta to file a further joint discovery letter brief concerning any 17 remaining disputes over these interrogatories by November 17, 2026, or otherwise notify the Court
18 that no disputes remain. (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 179.)

19 Privilege Disputes. Entrepreneur, the Three C's, and Meta are conferring on challenges to 20 Meta's privilege logs under the stipulated schedule and will present any remaining disputes to Judge 21 Hixson by November 13, 2026. (Entrepreneur, Dkt. No. 159.)

22 Additionally, the Kadrey Plaintiffs' joint discovery letter brief concerning Meta's AI Data 23 Catalog redactions, which Entrepreneur and the Three C's joined, is pending. (Kadrey, Dkt. Nos.
24 847, 849, 850.) The Kadrey Plaintiffs expect to file a second privilege letter brief this week, which 25 Entrepreneur and the Three C's may join. The Kadrey Plaintiffs, joined by Entrepreneur and the

1 Three C's, also expect to file a letter brief challenging Meta's recent clawbacks after the Parties 2 meet and confer.

3 Prior Reports and Testimony of Meta's Torrenting Expert. The Kadrey Plaintiffs, joined 4 by Entrepreneur and the Three C's, request that the Court order Meta to produce all prior expert 5 reports and deposition transcripts of Meta's torrenting expert, Barbara Frederiksen-Cross, that 6 involve BitTorrent technology, including but not limited to her report and testimony in In re
7 OpenAI, Inc. Copyright Infringement Litigation, No. 25-md-03143-SHS-OTW (S.D.N.Y.)
8 ("OpenAI"). Ms. Frederiksen-Cross has served as a testifying expert for rightsholders like Plaintiffs 9 in other cases alleging that defendants committed copyright infringement by downloading and 10 uploading copyrighted works without authorization via BitTorrent. Based on the expert reports 11 and/or testimony Plaintiffs have found on public dockets, Ms. Frederiksen-Cross has taken 12 positions that are in direct tension with those taken in this action, and thus Plaintiffs have a 13 reasonable basis for asking the Court to compel the production of relevant past expert testimony.

14 For example, Meta served an opening report from Ms. Frederiksen-Cross on October 2, 15 2026. In her report, she suggests that torrenting from shadow libraries without uploading is difficult 16 or impossible, stating, for example, that "even applying 'simple' measures to prevent uploads could 17 inhibit or delay any download[.]" (Frederiksen-Cross Report ¶ 85.) But recent summary judgment 18 filings in OpenAI show that OpenAI did exactly that and was able to "prevent . . . sharing books 19 back to other users while it downloaded" LibGen Fiction in a matter of days. (See OpenAI, Dkt.
20 No. 1987 ¶¶ 192–224.) Notably, Ms. Frederiksen-Cross is OpenAI's torrenting expert, offering 21 testimony in support of OpenAI to "address technical issues relevant to the acquisition of LibGen, 22 source code, and torrenting protocols." (OpenAI, Dkt. No. 2131.)

23 Ms. Frederiksen-Cross's prior reports and testimony involving BitTorrent technology thus 24 bear directly on the reliability of the opinions that she is now offering in this case, including whether 25

1 she has offered inconsistent opinions on the feasibility of torrenting while limiting or preventing 2 uploading. Plaintiffs thus respectfully request that the Court order Meta to produce them promptly.

3 “ML Books” Folder and Other Hyperlinked Documents. The Kadrey Plaintiffs, joined by 4 Entrepreneur and the Three C’s, request that the Court order Meta to produce documents linked to 5 in Meta’s produced documents, including documents from a Google Drive folder titled “ML 6 Books” and ones that relate to a Meta book club that used copyrighted books possibly acquired 7 from shadow libraries.¹ In one of these documents, a Meta employee shared a “pirated book” with 8 another employee and stated, “i know for vellum sake this is prob very ironic.” 9 (META_EM_CCC_K_00955800.) When asked whether the book was pirated, the employee sent 10 a link to the “ML Books” folder. (Id.) The employee who received the pirated book told another 11 colleague, “bro she tryna get me fired,” and that he “may need her to delete those messages.”
12 (META_EM_CCC_K_00955792.) Fair use is assessed separately for each use of a copyrighted 13 work, so whether Meta employees used books obtained from shadow libraries for purposes other 14 than model training (i.e., for a book club) bears on Meta’s defense. See Andy Warhol Found. for 15 the Visual Arts, Inc. v. Goldsmith, 598 U.S. 508, 533 (2023). Plaintiffs request that the Court order 16 Meta to promptly produce the hyperlinked documents and records Plaintiffs have identified—17 including the “ML Books” folder’s metadata, backups, version history, subfolders, and contents—
18 and reserve the right to seek additional discovery into Meta’s use of pirated books for its book club.

19 Command History Files. The Kadrey Plaintiffs, joined by Entrepreneur and the Three C’s,
20 request that the Court order Meta to comply with the Court’s March 2025 order and Judge Hixson’s 21 recent order requiring Meta to produce all command history files associated with its torrenting from

1 shadow libraries, and to identify whether Meta deleted any such files (by overwriting them or 2 otherwise), and when.

3 In March 2025, the Court adopted the Kadrey Plaintiffs’ “baseball arbitration” proposal for 4 certain additional limited discovery. (Kadrey, Dkt. Nos. 467 (proposal), 470 (order).) It included 5 a single request for production seeking “Documents sufficient to show the installation, usage, 6 configuration, and operation of Torrent Clients to obtain Data from” shadow libraries, with 7 “Documents” defined to include “command line history logs (including the .bash_history file in the 8 user home directories of servers used for downloading data).” (Kadrey, Dkt. No. 467-2.) 9 Command history files show, among other things, which software configurations Meta used to 10 torrent and which .torrent files—and thus which copyrighted works—Meta targeted for torrenting.

11 Meta did not produce any command history files until one appeared in search-term results
12 after the Court ordered Meta to run certain terms in connection with the Kadrey Plaintiffs’ October 13 2025 administrative motion. After the issue was raised with Meta, it produced some, but refused 14 to search for and produce all, command history files. The Kadrey Plaintiffs and Meta briefed this 15 dispute before Judge Hixson in July (Kadrey, Dkt. No. 785), and he ordered Meta to comply in full 16 with this Court’s March 2025 order and produce all command history records (Kadrey, Dkt. No.
17 831). Meta still has not produced them all; critically, it still has not produced any command history 18 files from any of the servers that it used during its multiple torrenting periods. (See Kadrey, Dkt.
19 No. 854 at 2–3.) Plaintiffs therefore request that the Court order Meta again to promptly produce 20 all torrenting command history files, including from all of the servers (and backups) that Meta used 21 to torrent from shadow libraries, and order Meta to identify whether it deleted any such files and 22 when.

23 Former Meta Employee’s Testimony About Books3. Last Friday, former Meta employee, 24 Stephen Roller, admitted to torrenting and knowingly distributing Books3 (a dataset containing 25 196,000 pirated books including numerous asserted works in this case) during the same time he

1 was employed at Meta. He also testified that he deleted this dataset about a year ago—possibly 2 after he was subpoenaed for the second time in this case—“[d]ue to all this litigation,” as 3 “it seem[ed] contentious to have copies of The Pile [which includes Books3].” (Roller Dep. Tr.
4 108:14–17.) Mr. Roller did not recall the precise date he acquired Books3, but he acknowledged 5 the dataset was created in 2020, that he worked at Meta between 2017–2023, and that he was not 6 employed by any other company during this time. (Roller Dep. Tr. 17:14–15; 61:16–20; 62:13– 7 15.) He also testified that Meta had multiple copies of Books3. (See, e.g., Roller Dep. Tr. 50:21– 8 22 (stating that “Meta had copies of Books3 by the time” he left FAIR).) Indeed, he identified two 9 other individuals who had likely acquired their own copies of Books3: research scientists Jacob Xu
10 and Susan Zhang. (Roller Dep. Tr. 50:21–22; 66:8–67:23; 82:19–83:19.)

11 That Meta had multiple copies of Books3 with at least one copy acquired via torrenting was 12 news to Plaintiffs. Indeed, as recently as Meta’s August 24, 2026 Responses and Objections to 13 Entrepreneur Media’s Fifth Set of Interrogatories, Meta stated that it “d[id] not believe it obtained 14 [Books3] via BitTorrent or other peer-to-peer protocol.” Given Mr. Roller’s testimony, Plaintiffs 15 intend to seek clarification from Meta on its various acquisitions of the Books3 dataset, including 16 how many copies Meta acquired and the methods through which Meta acquired them. If Plaintiffs 17 are unable to resolve this issue with Meta, they intend to seek relief from the Court.

18 Meta’s Position:

19 Amendment to Conform Entrepreneur’s and the Three C’s Complaints.

20 Meta has not been provided with any proposed amended complaint or list of works that 21 Entrepreneur or the Three C’s intend to add in their respective proposed amended 22 complaints. Without that information, Meta cannot determine whether to object to any of the 23 proposed amendments, or whether any of the representations above that no new discovery would 24 be required are accurate. Given the November 6 deadline, the Court should order Entrepreneur and 25 the Three C’s to provide their proposed amended complaints, lists of asserted works, and to the

1 extent not already produced, all materials establishing that Entrepreneur and the Three C's possess 2 the right to assert infringement of the proposed asserted works and copies of copyright registrations 3 for all of the proposed asserted works. Meta requests that the Court order Entrepreneur and the 4 Three C's to provide this information by Friday, October 30 to ensure the parties have sufficient 5 time to meet and confer ahead of the November 6 deadline.

6 Entrepreneur's Written Discovery.

7 Judge Hixson has addressed this issue via an order issued today, ordering the parties to 8 either file a joint letter brief or a notice of no disputes by November 17. (Dkt. No. 179)

9 Privilege Disputes.

10 As noted, there are certain privilege issues that the parties are conferring about or that are 11 being addressed with Judge Hixson. As Meta is raising in the briefing with Judge Hixson, Meta 12 disputes that certain of these disputes are properly raised by Kadrey, as they relate to documents 13 produced pursuant to discovery requests from EM and the Three C's.

14 Prior Reports and Testimony of Meta's Torrenting Expert.

15 The Court should reject Plaintiffs efforts to seek expert reports and testimony from 16 unrelated matters that do not involve Meta. First, Judge Hixson already rejected the Three C's 17 efforts to seek this information from third party OpenAI. Case No. 3:26-cv-02333-VC, Dkt. No.
18 131 at 6-7 (denying request for "All expert reports. . . [and] testimony . . . prepared by, for, reviewed 19 by, considered by, relied upon by, submitted by, or attributed to Barbara Frederiksen-Cross in In 20 Re: OpenAI, Inc. Copyright Infringement Litigation, 1:25-md03143, (S.D.N.Y.)" because "[t]he 21 Court does not see the utility of rummaging around in the MDL for the items requested in 6."). The 22 Three C's did not object to this portion of Judge Hixson's Discovery Order, so that ruling is final.

23 Second, Meta does not have possession, custody or control of expert reports and deposition 24 transcripts from Ms. Frederiksen-Cross's expert testimony in cases that did not involve 25

1 Meta.² Moreover, those expert reports and deposition transcripts would likely be the subject of (1) 2 protective orders entered into those cases and (2) potential contractual confidentiality obligations 3 that Ms. Frederiksen-Cross may have with the non-Meta parties that retained her in those 4 matters. In fact, Ms. Frederiksen-Cross's expert work in the OpenAI matter was filed under seal 5 in that matter because it contained confidential information, under the Protective Order in that 6 litigation, of OpenAI and other third-parties. OpenAI, Dkt. No. 1703 (Letter Motion to Seal seeking 7 to seal Frederickson-Cross report and explaining that "These materials contain or reflect Protected 8 Discovery Materials designated by OpenAI or other parties (and third-parties)"; see also Dkt. 2131-9 1 (excerpts of Frederiksen-Cross report filed under seal). Thus, production of those reports and 10 transcripts from unrelated cases would appear to implicate the confidential information of 11 numerous third parties, including OpenAI, and those parties would need to be heard to address any 12 confidentiality or relevance concerns they may have.

13 Third, Plaintiffs' purported relevance arguments fail, as they have not shown that there were 14 any inconsistent statements by Ms. Frederiksen-Cross. The cited paragraphs from the MSJ papers 15 in the OpenAI case do not reference Ms. Frederiksen-Cross, and the statement quoted above from 16 the OpenAI summary judgment papers is a statement citing a declaration of Plaintiffs' expert, Dr.
17 Choffnes. OpenAI, Dkt. No. 1987 ¶¶ 192–224) (citing Choffnes Decl. Ex. A ¶¶ 127, 129). Nothing 18 in that quoted text is attributed to Ms. Frederiksen-Cross.

19 "ML Books" Folder and Other Hyperlinked Documents.

20 Throughout this matter, Meta worked with Plaintiffs to address reasonable requests for 21 relevant and responsive hyperlinked documents identified in materials Meta produced. However, 22 at some point discovery must end. Here, Plaintiffs' argument focuses on hyperlinks from two 23

24 ² Ms. Frederiksen-Cross has only provided expert testimony for Meta on torrenting related issues 25 in these related matters. Kadrey, Entrepreneur and the Three C's already have her prior expert 26 reports and testimony from those matters.

1 documents - META_EM_CCC_K_00955800 and META_EM_CCC_K_00955792 - which were 2 produced August 17, 2026. Plaintiffs first requested these hyperlinks on October 9, 2026 - more 3 than a month after discovery closed, and over three weeks after the deadline to raise discovery 4 disputes. L.R. 37-3. These requests, along with Plaintiffs' requests for additional links from 5 the documents listed in the footnote, are simply too late. All of the identified documents were 6 produced before the close of fact discovery, including one that was produced in July 2024 in the 7 Kadrey matter, nearly 2.5 years ago. As a courtesy, Meta has agreed to produce specific hyperlinks 8 requested from two of the documents in the footnote (Meta_EM_CCC_K_00122820 and 9 META_EM_CCC_K_02904024), as the request was less untimely than the requests received on 10 October 9. The hyperlinks requested in two of the footnoted documents were previously logged as 11 privileged (META_EM_CCC_K_03074939 and META_EM_CCC_K_03257781).

12 Regarding Plaintiffs' assertions about "ML Books" that were raised for the first time to 13 Meta via this status report, Meta is investigating Plaintiffs' assertions and will confer with Plaintiffs 14 when Meta has more information to share. Meta notes this issue could have been raised much 15 earlier as the cited documents were produced on August 17, 2026, several weeks before fact 16 discovery closed.

17 Command History Files.

18 Kadrey mischaracterizes the facts about this issue. On September 11, 2026, Judge Hixson 19 issued an order on Kadrey's July 31, 2026 letter brief that addressed a dispute between Kadrey and 20 Meta over the production of "command history files." Even before that Order, Meta had voluntarily 21 produced a significant number of command history files to Kadrey. Following the entry of Judge 22 Hixson's Order, Meta has been diligently searching for and producing on a rolling basis additional 23 command history files as it identifies them. Kadrey's assertion that Meta has not produced 24 responsive materials from servers associated with torrenting is incorrect, as Meta has produced 25 substantial quantities of logs that detail the commands that were run on those servers. Meta is

1 diligently continuing its searches through backups of computers and server files and will continue 2 to produce responsive materials promptly as they are discovered on a rolling basis.

3 Kadrey's request that Meta explain any alleged deletion of command history files was not 4 part of the relief sought in Kadrey's July 31, 2026 letter brief (Dkt. No. 785) and was not part of 5 any relief ordered by Judge Hixson (Dkt. 831). Nor is there any factual basis for Plaintiffs to assert 6 that any command history files were "deleted." The Court should not entertain Kadrey's untimely 7 request to amend its discovery motion or Judge Hixson's discovery order.

8 Finally, to the extent Entrepreneur and the Three C's join this request, it is untimely, as they 9 did not move to compel any of this information or seek to join Kadrey's July 31 letter brief prior to 10 the discovery motion deadline.

11 Former Meta Employee's Testimony About Books3.

12 This status report is the first time that Plaintiffs have raised these alleged concerns with 13 Meta, which are not supported by Mr. Roller's deposition testimony. As requested by Plaintiffs, 14 Meta will confer with them regarding their assertions. Mr. Roller testified that he did not know 15 when he downloaded a copy of the "The Pile" via torrent, and did not testify that his download of 16 the "The Pile" was for Meta or at Meta, noting it could have been for himself or for another 17 employer. Nothing in Mr. Roller's testimony established that Mr. Roller's download of The Pile 18 was ever in Meta's files. Mr. Roller also did not testify it was "likely" that Meta downloaded 19 multiple copies of Books3, as he said he did not know if more than one copy was 20 downloaded. Roller Tr. (Rough) 29:14-18. Contrary to Plaintiffs' assertions above, Mr. Roller 21 also testified that he did not know whether Susan Zhang or Jacob Xu downloaded Books3. Roller 22 Tr. (Rough) 32:19-21 ("Q. Do you know whether Susan Zhang also acquired Books3? A. I don't."); 23 33:18-19 ("Q. Okay. What about Jacob Xu? A. I don't recall Jacob Xu acquiring Books3.") Mr.
24 Roller's uncertainty about all of these questions is not surprising, as he has not worked at Meta 25 since January 2023, and has been employed by three different companies working on AI products

1 since leaving Meta. Regarding Mr. Roller deleting a copy of the Pile about one year ago (more 2 than two years after leaving Meta), his testimony was clear that he personally decided to delete this 3 copy that was located on his personal computer because he “didn’t need it, so [he’d] rather not have 4 it.” .Roller Tr. (Rough) 105:4-8.
